U. S. MARINE HIT
Inquiry or Debate Expected to Affect Future of Uncle
Sam on Seas.

Washington—The trial trip of the Leviathan, which begins today, is a political as well as a nautical event. The row between the democratic national committee and the United States shipping board over what has been termed "a million dollar ship" is the first controversy over government operation of ships which has developed a political quarrel, and it is likely to be a congressional investigation or is made the subject of continued political discussion, the chances are that the whole course of the American merchant marine in the future will be vitally affected.

The high point in the controversy is whether the shipping board is to be permitted to do things with government money as private lines do with their own funds. Trial trips are taken by all big liners. Guests are invited and ride free. It is a part of the good will and advertising campaign of all shipping companies. But it isn't usual for the government to give away anything from except seats, so there has been a great deal of criticism about the "junket," and even though the shipping board insists the total cost of the guests will be only $13,000 instead of $100,000, still the fact that any one gets something gratis is brought into question.

May Influence Congress

What some of the shipping board people now are beginning to fear is that a sentiment may be built up which will influence congress in its appropriations for the shipping board in the future. The board has spent the expenditure of $13,000 for invited guests as an indirect advertisement.

CAN'T LIMIT HEIGHT OF BUILDINGS

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Madison—The Wisconsin supreme court, in an opinion handed down today in the case of Piper Brothers against the state, held that the statute limiting the height of buildings around the square in Madison was an "unreasonable exercise of police power, and that the rights attempted to be acquired under said action can only be acquired by exercise of the power of eminent domain." It is believed this interpretation of the statutes will affect zoning ordinances, lawyers said.

Justice Crownhart filed a dissenting opinion.

Madison—The second drowning in Madison in two days occurred here Monday night when Oscar Wesley, 20, slipped and fell into the water in the Yahara river and went under. He was unable to swim.

WHITEWATER BAND WINS

Through an error in transmission, the Gazette credited the Fort Atkinson band with winning first place at the Whiteside tournament at Jefferson last week.

Credit for the honor goes to the Whitewater band, under the direction of the Whiteside Methodist church. The band worked three years to win first place.

Mrs. Handy Dies
after Operation

Mrs. Harry M. Handy, wife of Harry M. Handy, for many years secretary of the Eagles lodge here, died at 8 p. m. Sunday at St. Joseph's hospital, Milwaukee, following an operation Saturday, June 9. Mrs. Handy, her husband, and two sons, Charles and Glen, went to Milwaukee, Monday, and returned with the body at 4 p. m.

It was thought that Mrs. Handy's operation was a success and her condition improved. Her failure was given by hospital authorities, as the cause of her death.

Announcement of the funeral will be made, Wednesday.

A son, Harry Linn, died only a few months ago.

GIRL PLANS WALK FROM WISCONSIN TO ALASKA THIS YEAR.

Rhineland—Miss Charlotte Nachway, a former Rhineland teacher, who has gained considerable notoriety as a long distance pedestrian, plans to walk from Wisconsin to Alaska this year.

Miss Nachway is enrolled at Marquette university, Milwaukee, this city. She and Miss Anna Hehn, this city, have walked from coast to coast.

U. S. GETS INJUNCTION TO HALT LOWERING OF LAKES

Dr. Eaton to Be Interim President

Beloit—Dr. Edwin Dwight Eaton, who retired in 1916, after 36 years as president of Beloit college, will be restored to the post as interim president pending the selection of a permanent head of the institution, trustees announced Tuesday.

Dr. Eaton succeeds Dr. M. A. Brannon, who resigned early this year.

Dr. George L. Collie, for many years dean, also will reassume his former post.

COUNCIL OPPOSES ORDER ON VIADUCT

Vote Is 5 to 2 to Ask Commission for Revocation of Ruling.

Decision to ask the railroad commission for vacation of its order on the Franklin street viaduct and to allow the water to revert back to its former status with the understanding that the railroads pave the rough stretch underneath it, was one of several important actions taken by the city council at its meeting Monday night. The vote to ask that the order be quashed was 5 to 2.

President J. K. Jensen and Councilman Mrs. Emma H. Manning casting the dissenting ballots.

In considering the resolution introduced by Councilman George A. Jacobson and seconded by Councilman C. Starr Atwood, the five voting "aye" did so on the grounds that the erection of a new viaduct, as proposed by the railroad commission's order is not worth $15,000 to the city.

Not Worth Much

"I favor leaving the viaduct as it is rather than paying $15,000 toward a new one," said Mr. Jacobson. "The improvement wouldn't be worth $500 to the city."

Others expressed similar objections to the commission's order.

In reporting on the result of his conference with railroad officials in Chicago, President Jensen said they were willing to go through with the commission's order to revert back to their original proposal to put in a new superstructure using the present abutments at a cost of $8,000 to the city.

Let It Stand—Jensen

"I think there is only one thing to do," said Mr. Jensen, "and that is to let the commission's order stand. The trouble will then be disposed of for all time. While there is no likelihood of getting rid of the center pier even with a new viaduct, there is a remote possibility that we could get something more than the commission orders."

"Franklin street is not only important as No. 10 highway but it is the only safe route into the city from the north and as such should be improved with a new viaduct," declared Mrs. Manning.

If the center pier must be continued, it is an error of leaving it as it is and paving the unpaved stretch beneath it, and possibly widening the street by changing the curb lines," said Councilman Jacobson.

The matter was left with City Attorney Cunningham to see if he cannot obtain vacation of the commission's order by informal approach to the body.

EXPECT WET
BILL DEFEAT
IN SENATE

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Madison—The Wisconsin senate Wednesday will dispose of the Tucker bill providing for repeal of the Severance prohibition enforcement law. Drives in the upper house claim they will have from 19 to 21 of the 33 senate votes lined up against the repeal bill. The anti-prohibition forces in the legislature concede that will be defeated by a decisive majority.

DRY OFFENSIVE AT DETROIT LAUNCHED

10 Fast Motorboats Will Make Up Government Fleet on River.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Detroit—Federal prohibition agents Monday struck their second blow at the illicit liquor traffic in the Detroit river district, when the government started the establishment of a blockade of Ecorse, down river suburb, that has been the center of smuggling operations on this side of the border.

E. C. Yellowell, chief of the federal dry agents, who came here recently to inspect the river, said that against a half hundred alleged blind pigs that may result in these places being closed for a year, telegraphed local officials to place 10 fast motor boats on Detroit river as soon as possible. The present "dry navy" here consists of four power boats.

Immediately on receipt of the order, James B. Davis, federal prohibition director for Michigan, took steps to place six additional boats in service. It is intended to bottle up the alleged rum runners at Ecorse and prevent shipments being landed there.

Chicago—Fifteen years of litigation was climaxed late Monday when the government obtained a federal injunction restraining the sanitary district of Chicago from diverting more than its authorized quota of water through the drainage canal from Lake Michigan. The government charges the lake level has been lowered to the extent that it hampers navigation on the great lakes through the action of the sanitary district in exceeding its out-take of 4,167 cubic feet per second, the minimum allowed by the secretary of war in the United States, original grant to the district.

For the last several years, it contended, the sanitary district has been diverting more than 10,000 cubic feet per second.

Answering the charges officials of the sanitary district declared that because of Chicago's growth it has been necessary to take the larger volume of water from the lake in order to safeguard the health of the city's inhabitants. Police powers of the state gave the district the right, it was claimed, to take as much water from the lake as purposes of sanitation required.

Because of the vital issue involved, United States District Judge Carpenter, who issued the restraining order, issued a mitigation clause, suspending operation of the injunction for six months so the sanitary district might take the case to the supreme court.

Men of National Fame
to Be at Convention of Blind
Which Opens Thursday

Three hundred of the leading workers for the blind of the country will be here for the tenth biennial convention of the American Association for Workers for the Blind, which opens at the state school for the blind Thursday and continues through Tuesday, June 25.

Supt. J. T. Hooper, of the Wisconsin school for the blind, has completed arrangements for the entertainment of the guests at the school and in private homes in Janesville.

H. Randolph Latimer is president of the association. Mr. Latimer is the executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind operating the Pittsburgh workshop for the blind. He will preside at all sessions.

Blaine to Give Welcome

The opening meeting will be held Thursday night with Supt. Hooper presiding. Invocation will be given by Dr. Joseph C. Nade, director general, American Foundation for the Blind, New York. "America, the Deafening," will be sung by the blind, William Leasing, the singing. Addresses of welcome will be made by Governor Blaine and Mrs. Elizabeth Kading, president of the state association of the blind. J. T. Hooper, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Nade, President and Mrs. H. R. Latimer, Vice President and Mrs. Francis Palmer, Mrs. Anna Johnson, Treasurer Robert E. Irwin and Mrs. Irwin, and Secretary Charles B. Hayes and Mrs. Hayes.

Sessions of Friday

Friday's session will be opened with song and an address by William A. Hadley, Winnetka, Ill., on "A Correspondence School for the Blind." Sherman Corns, director of Community Welfare Federation, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., will speak on "Community Chest in Its Relation to Work for the Blind," followed by a discussion led by William W. Presden, of the Detroit League for the Handicapped. "Practical Suggestions to Secure Greater Efficiency on the Part of the Blind" is the subject of Mrs. Eva B. Palmer, executive secretary, Cleveland Society for the Blind, Cleveland, O. After a recess Gordon Hicks, superintendent, Connecticut school for the blind, Hartford, Conn., will give "Practical Suggestions for the Development of Greater Pride in the Personal Appearance Amongst the Blind." "Shoe Repairing as an interesting and profitable occupation" will be talked on by Percy Angstrom, state supervisor of vocational rehabilitation, Lansing, Mich.

The afternoon session opens at 2 o'clock. The program is as follows:

NEGRO GUNMAN IN CHANGE OF VENUE

Lacey, Who Shot Policeman, to Be Tried Before Grimm—Saxby Worse.

Change of venue to circuit court was granted James Lacey, Janesville negro, held on serious charges, by Judge H. L. Maxfield in municipal court Tuesday morning, upon petition of Lacey's attorney, E. H. Ryan. The trial will be continued at $5,000.

Lacey is held on charges of assault with intent to murder and shooting without regard to life. He was arrested by Officer William Saxby in company with Ben Roy, local negro, after a shooting affray in which Officer Saxby was seriously wounded.

The condition of Officer Saxby was reported as "very bad" and during the past few days he has grown weaker and coupled with the extremely high heat his condition is regarded as serious.

Roscoe Case Adjourned

Ole Roscoe, Janesville, charged with the possession of a privately distilled liquor, pleaded not guilty to the charge before Judge Maxfield in municipal court, Tuesday morning. The case was adjourned to 10 a. m. July 3.

Farrell to Circuit Court

Austin Farrell, Evansville, held on the same charge, was granted a change of venue to circuit court. The case will be tried in the October session.

HOUSE CONCURS IN GUARD $255,000

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Madison—The assembly Tuesday voted 22 to 2 to concur in the senate bill appropriating $255,000 annually to the Wisconsin national guard. The governor has said he would sign the bill.

Passage of the bill assures financial support for the national guard for the next two years. The assembly previously voted to abolish the guard.

The assembly passed to third reading the Heck senate bill, creating a joint interim legislative committee to investigate the feasibility of a state-owned plant for the manufacture of Portland cement. The assembly attached an amendment increasing the appropriation from $3,000 to $20,000.

The house concurred in the senate bill empowering the university research to the United States department for a forest products laboratory.

The senate bill limiting the rate of interest to be charged in the sale of machinery, when such is bought on credit, was killed. The assembly adopted the Price joint resolution amending the constitution to empower the state to establish a system of rural credits.

ANTS GONE; MERRILL

WITH BUFFALO BUGS

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Merrill—This city has gone "buggy." Buffalo bugs are the latest visitors. These insects which make the ordinary American moth look infinitesimally smaller, are being found by the hundreds in dressers drawers and clothes closets of Merrill homes.

A month ago the city was infested with myriads of ants which caused a large amount of damage.

The Buffalo bug, a new species in this vicinity, eats its way through an entire bolt of cloth instead of confining its activity to a small area of material.

Insecticides used for repelling moths are of no avail against the new horde.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Madison—A revival of charges that there is "something wrong" in Wisconsin's state government occurred in the senate Tuesday with the result that a bill by Senator Heck was engrossed, appropriating $5,000 to the state board of public affairs to investigate charges and report to the next legislature.

Several administration senators, who voted against the Severance resolution for an inquiry into the state affairs here, supported Heck bill.

Would He Fiddle

Senator Anton Kuckuk, conservative leader, pointed out that the governor was a member of the proposed investigating board and controlled it completely. He said he did not think such a body would attempt to find anything wrong.

Senator Max Heck, author of the bill, declared it was "high time there was an investigation of state departments, with the results made available to next legislature."

Barber, Wausau, who said "there is something wrong in the state of Wisconsin—absolutely wrong"—and this committee will find out where the trouble lies." He declared that millions of dollars were lost through duplication of work and through extravagance on the part of state employees.

"Nonsense," said Huber, chairman of the joint committee on finance, and Senator C. B. Casperson, a member of the committee, who said "there is no investigation by the state board of public affairs as 'nonsense.' They said that the board would be merely investigating the work of the board and accomplishing nothing. Senator Kuckuk at this time referred to the fact that the governor is a member of the proposed investigating body and appointed two of its members.

Socialists joined with several of those who opposed the previous suggestions for an investigation, and declared the bill, following is the roll call:

For engrossment—Farber, Bligden, Cashman, Gurey, Heck, Kuckuk, Kump, Quick, Schumann, Severance, Staudenmayer, Titus—12.

Against engrossment—Casperson, Clark, Huber, Johnson, Kuckuk, Morris, Ridgway, Roscoe, White—9.

WIDOW IDENTIFIES TESMER SUSPECT

Chicago—Woman or man, Mrs. Frances Carriek, also known as Fred G. Thompson, was identified Tuesday by Mrs. Richard C. Tesmer as the supposed woman bandit who shot and killed her husband in a hold-up on June 5.

First supposed to be a man disguised as a woman, the prisoner was declared by Frank Carriek, who with two others, was arrested with the accused to have lived as his wife for 14 years.

The suspect was identified by the smiling expression which Tesmer said the bandit assumed until almost the instant of firing the shot that killed Tesmer. She positively declared that Mrs. Carriek or Thompson was the killer.

HEAT WAVE IS HERE FOR SIEGE

Little Relief from Sizzling Temperatures Seen for Present.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Chicago—Scant relief was in prospect Tuesday from the hot weather in many of the southwest, east central and Gulf states. Official forecasts, as a whole, predicted generally unsettled weather, with little change in temperature.

The heat wave descended early Monday, taking a toll of death and prostration. The temperature for some time, the weather bureau reported, over the central and southern part of the United States, and is here to stay for a while.

The maximum temperature at St. Paul was 84 and at Milwaukee, 90.

At St. Louis one man died from heat prostration, the record there being 90 degrees for the day.

Chicago—Three deaths were attributed to the heat Monday. The official temperature was 85 at 1 p. m., and the weather bureau said the hot weather, the first pronounced heat generally through the forecast district this year, was here to stay.

NORTHWESTERN EMPLOYEES OVERCOME BY HEAT; DIES

Green Bay—James Hawley, 33, an employee of the Northwestern railroad, was overcome by the heat here early Tuesday morning and died at a hospital about two hours later. Hawley was working on the inside of a boiler when he was prostrated and was taken to the hospital, unconscious.

PREUS TO OPPOSE
JOHNSON AT POLLS

Governor Leads Republican Field by Wide Margin Over Hallam.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

St. Paul—Governor J. A. O. Preus, defeated Augustus Johnson in the last gubernatorial contest by a margin of 14,000 votes, again will oppose the latter in the July 16 final election, when a successor will be chosen to take office in January.

The third man in the July 16 election will be James A. Carley, democrat, but political observers look for the main battle between the governor, on the republican ticket, and Johnson, the farmer-labor choice.

The three were nominated in Monday's caucus. Preus, Johnson and Carley were the primary returns Tuesday showed.

Governor Preus's lead in a field of nine republicans continued to grow as additional returns Tuesday.

Johnson had a lead of more than 13,000 votes over Oscar Hallam, former justice of the state supreme court, his nearest opponent, with about two-thirds reported.

WANT COMPERS AT MEET

Superior—An effort will be made to bring Samuel Compers to this city during the big state labor convention here next month.

Council Selects Man to Conduct Affairs of City

James E. Auten, former leading official of the Samson Tractor company here, was tendered the position of city manager of Janesville at a salary of $8,000 a year by the city council in regular meeting in the city hall, Monday night. The motion authorizing President J. K. Jensen to make the offer to Mr. Auten was made by Councilman William McCue and was passed by unanimous vote. The resolution gives him until July 2 to accept or reject.

Mr. Auten is well known in Janesville as an engineer, efficiency and purchasing man, and civic worker. He gained prominence while here three and four years ago helping to direct the Samson company in the flourishing early days of its organization. At that time he was employed by the General Motors corporation.

Now in Milwaukee.

With the cessation of the manufacture of tractors in Janesville, Mr. Auten went with the Lafayette Motor company at Indianapolis, and his record with this corporation has been one of great success. Since the recent removal of this plant from Indianapolis to Milwaukee, Mr. Auten has been in the latter city, although his family remained in Indianapolis, that the children might finish out the school year without changing.

It is understood to be contemplating a change at a salary nearly double that being offered him by the city of Janesville, but it is believed he will give serious consideration.

ETNA WIPES OUT
HOMES OF 30,000
IN MIGHTY BLASTS

At Least Three Towns Razed by Streams of Lava.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Rome—Gabriele Carusone, Italian minister of public works, has left for the devastated region around Mount Etna to assist in caring for the 30,000 persons who have been made homeless by the mighty mountain's eruptions.

Dispatches from Catania, early Tuesday added nothing of importance to the tale of destruction done by the volcano. Hope was expressed that Linguaglossa, which at one time Monday appeared doomed by the lava stream, was out of danger. Three little towns—Pietrò, Palamareta and Ferro—have been completely wiped out.

Eye witnesses of the eruption say that not only did the main crater of Etna break into activity, but five vast fissures appeared in the northeastern side of the volcano, contributing to the flow of lava upon the forests and fruit groves clothing the lower slopes of the mountain.

Valuable timber, in addition to the orange and lemon orchards, has been destroyed.

Mount Vesuvius continues moderately active, emitting much steam and lava. This is not unusual, for when Etna is active Vesuvius is ordinarily quiet, and vice versa.

MANAGER CHOICE
ONE OF 10 BIG
ACTS OF COUNCIL

In one of the most important meetings since the city manager council took office on April 17, the following actions were taken, Monday night:

1. The council voted to hire James E. Auten as city manager at $8,000 salary, giving him till July 2 to accept or reject.

2. Voted to ask railroad commission for setting aside of North Franklin street viaduct order.

3. Appointed W. R. Governor custodian of city's athletic park.

4. Appropriated $500 for purchase of flag decorations for coming 4th of July.

5. Voted to give permission to close parts of Milwaukee and Madison streets to traffic on the 4th.

6. Gave George W. Slightman, plumbing inspector and acting building inspector, the duties of city senior of weights and measures.

7. Approved chamber of commerce manager's proposal for change to route 20 paved west of Janesville.

8. Voted for investigation looking toward revision of aerial highway and sign erection ordinance.

9. Granted nine licenses for billiard halls and bowling alleys.

10. Voted to make the city's appointment of Councilman A. J. Gibbons and Mrs. Emma H. Manning to make a study of committee, successors to police and fire commission.

CITY OF 20,000 PERISHED
BY VIOLENT ERUPTIONS

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Catania, Italy—The eruption of Mount Etna continues unabated. One stream of lava is now threatening Giardini, a city of about 20,000 inhabitants, and the forests and fruit groves clothing the lower slopes of the volcano.

About 50,000 persons already have been evacuated from the area surrounding Etna. The ash, cinders and stones emitted by the volcano are so thick as to darken the sun. Professor Bindi of the University of Catania, has been sent to ascertain whether the new crater opened in eastern slope is that which was active in 1879.

Catania, a city of 100,000, is a high archipelago of Catania, has communicated to clergy in the stricken area the faithful and paternal interest of the population. He has also received instructions to do all he can in relieving the refugees.

RAIN, RAIN STAYS AWAY; GOING TO
FOR MANY A DAY

No rain of any consequence will visit Janesville this week.

That's the first of the weather news for Tuesday. It comes from L. C. Mead, prognosticator of the moods of Jupiter Pluvius, Old Sol, Thor, Ceres, Balder, Chief Rain-In-Chief, and the rest of the weather gods.

While it was a flashing sheet lightning Monday night and a welcome breeze wafted its phantom caresses atop the latest, best of perspiration, Mr. Mead said it wouldn't rain Monday night. When the moon turned it did not show anything wet.

Monday's record of 32 degrees promises to be exceeded Tuesday. Shortly before 1 a. m. the mercury was hitting 32 and going strong. The search mark was 35 at 8 a. m.

Seven or eight teasing drops of rain sleeted through a stranded storm cloud that passed over Bluff and Milwaukee streets at noon Tuesday.

Hundreds piled into the municipal beaches Monday night; thousands of others tried the cooling qualities of drifting of our dusty country roads; many just sat on their porches. There is no rest for the wilting.

What Happened to Route 20?

There seems to be some constant obstruction always in the way of completing Route 20 west from Janesville. Janesville is more vitally interested in this highway than in any other in the county. It is fought naturally by pelot which wants Route 61 east and west and the through roads from the lakes to the river in connection with 20 at Brodhead. But that does not deeply interest Janesville. The plan for highways as originally proposed and voted on had to do with an east and west road through this city. Madison is at work too in opposition since that city wants all roads from Green county to lead to the capital. Dane county refused a hard road bond issue. Highways in Dane county are notoriously the worst of any of the older counties in the state. But selfishly, Dane wants all roads from other neighboring counties to come to the edge of the county at least. Route 10 should be completed to Evansville and Route 20 be started this year. That was the idea of the county board but now we have been checkmated by certain rules and decisions from Madison. The city council acted wisely in getting after this question at once on the suggestion of the manager of the Chamber of Commerce. Every citizen in Janesville and to the west of the city as well as deeply concerned in the road and the time for fiddling about and putting obstacles in the way has passed.

"Crimeshine" is the new name fitting to moonshine.

Split Over Language.

That the Ruhr occupation had nothing to do with the resignation of the Belgian cabinet and reparations were entirely out of it, is plain. Belgium is in the throes of a revolutionary movement against the continuation of the French language and the little kingdom is divided into two camps. Premier Theunis favored the establishment of the predominance of the Flemish language in the university of Ghent and was defeated. A divided cabinet precipitated the resignation. The Belgians are separated into Walloons, the French speaking section, industrial, largely socialist and radical as well as anti-clerical. The Flemings are clerical, and agricultural. The two sections got along well together until the German occupation when with insidious propaganda the Germans attempted to set the Walloons against the Flemings and the recent attempt to establish a Flemish chair in the Ghent university has presented the question acutely before the people. The nation is in grave danger that the conflict will be carried to the point of revolution and separation of the state, a dangerous and disastrous thing for the peace of Europe.

The mark now being quoted at 145,000 to the dollar is just about "not worth the paper it is printed on."

Two distinguished Hollanders have been making a thorough tour of America and noted particularly the prohibition enforcement. They say that while prohibition is not observed any more than the laws against murder and some other inhibitions of the Ten Commandments they do render the verdict that "prohibition is already a thorough, practical success with every indication that it is becoming more willingly observed and more effectually enforced." Then they add:

It seems that the average American is ignorant that the liquor interests are apparently very busy in an attempt to regain control. It seems to you people are complementarily letting the liquor interests rob you of the great benefits of the dry law which perhaps are more apparent to outsiders than to yourselves.

Skipper Lasker seems to be always sailing troubled seas.

Among other bills killed by the legislature was the one providing for highways free from signs and billboards. In Missouri, a state supposedly a century behind the times, such a law was passed this spring and the uglies will be removed as fast as the highway commissioner can cut them down. In Wisconsin we are doomed to have the scenic wonders of the state cut off by signs telling us to chew Ugly Plug or to wear P. D. Q.'s for discomfort.

Perhaps we need theaters more than a hotel, but we could use a hotel if we are to take our place as a convention city.

When Al Smith went down to French Lick springs, Tom Taggart, for years the democratic boss of Indiana, and owner of the hotel where Al stopped, packed his grip and went away on a three day visit. But he gave it out cold that the man who ran on the democratic ticket would have to have something more than a wet or a dry plank to get the vote of the Hoosier state. Tom has often hitched up with Tammany, but he is not ready to take on Al Smith.

It's about the zero hour for an attack over the top by the League of Nations, opening the fray with a barrage of "May-I-Notes" from former president, Woodrow Wilson.

POLICE AS MARKSMEN

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—Policemen have been given a special invitation to attend the training school of marksmanship at Camp Perry this fall. The National Rifle association thinks that in almost all the police departments of the country the men are armed with revolvers which they do not know how to use expertly.

Use of guns by officers of the law is being more and more discouraged. Guns are carried by them mainly for self defense, and in many cities a policeman is instructed not to fire unless he is fired on first.

Apparently the theory that the guardians of the law should be armed for protection is generally approved. There is probably not a police force in the country which is not armed. Yet there is a paradoxical theory, almost as strong, that the policeman should not, or need not, be a crack shot.

The result of this combination of ideas is that in almost half of the city police departments of the United States there is no organized inspection of the guns carried by the men. There is no attempt at standardizing the weapons used in these departments. In some places where the men furnish their own arms, all sorts of guns are in use. There is no target practice and no instruction in proper use of a gun. In one city of 300,000 population, an investigation of officers' weapons showed revolvers that were rusty, others packed with tobacco, and a few clogged with chewing gum from being carried carelessly in coat pockets.

There are two reasons for a condition like this. One is a lack of funds with which to buy standardized revolvers and maintain a practice range. The other reason is the widespread belief that the policeman who is an expert shot will use his gun recklessly or unnecessarily. The National Rifle association denies the truth of this. It holds that a man who is trained to handle a gun is not a danger to the community. He is not a danger to shoot it off in hot-headed excitement. When he does fire his weapon he knows what it will do. It is not an unknown occurrence for a bullet fired by an expert patrolman to hit a wall or pavement and glance off to injure a casual bystander.

It has been further shown that the man armed with a gun which he can not intelligently use is putting his faith in a decidedly unreliable source of protection. Many an officer pulls his gun knowing that he is an uncertain marksman, but expecting to bluff his prisoner, and that, according to policemen themselves, is how a good many fatalities occur in line of duty. The gunman who has to encounter the police is invariably a good shot. That is more, he makes it his business to learn who or what the policeman is. He knows in particular what he knows how to use his revolver.

There is ample evidence of this. There is a record of one city where a number of patrolmen were killed by thugs. The officers carried their own guns and no inspection of weapons was conducted. When half a dozen officers were killed in a year the police chief armed the force with a standard caliber gun and started systematic instruction in shooting. There have been no policeman killed there since. Twice officers have been fired on, but in both cases the crook, and not the policeman, fell.

The rifle association points out that a reputation for marksmanship is beyond doubt a protection to an officer of the law. "If a policeman attended the Camp Perry school and make a record for himself in the national pistol matches, every crook in his town would know about it," says an official of the association.

"And if the representative of the police department went back to his town and was put in charge of systematic target practice for the force, the law breaking element would soon know about that too. A thug uses his gun to kill, but if there is much danger of getting killed the game loses its attraction."

"A number of the police departments are interested in the marksmanship school, but some claim that they have no funds to send representatives to Ohio to take the training. This year the government has made the cost as low as possible in the hope of attracting many policemen and civilians. The government is furnishing guns, shooting equipment, and instruction without charge, so that aside from transportation and subsistence at about $1.25 a day, the men will have no expense for the entire series of events between September 1st and 27th."

"If it is worth while for the National Guard to send ten to sixteen men from each state, it is worth while for a police department to send at least one man who can go back and instruct the others."

It is interesting to note that police officials in this country consider the gun the most trouble some weapon with which they have to deal. At the recent international convention of police chiefs in New York, our police officials bewailed the fact that there seems to be no way to disarm the professional law breaker. If gun totting could be abolished, they declared, all of their troubles would end.

The French and Japanese police chiefs said that gun totting criminals were the least of their worries. French crime experts run to knives and poison while Japanese are partial to knives and bombs.

The law breaker, it is recognized, will get his weapon, and if he can not get the one he trusts most he will take another. Whether we would be any better off in a country minus pistols but bristling with stilettos, razors, bricks, and dynamite, nobody knows. We do know that at present the gun is recognized as the nationally chosen weapon of the American underworld. This being true the system followed by so many police departments of allowing crooks to have a monopoly of crack shots while an upholder of the law trusts to providence and a rusty gun is something to think about.

the children die before they reach the age of seven. It is the same in Nicaragua. No attention at childbirth and unskilled methods in handling the young children are responsible for the heavy death rate. We are trying to remedy that in America and raise the babies to manhood and womanhood. We are of the opinion that the investment is about the best we can make at any time.

Judge Gary wants more bible study. One of the best ways to study the bible is to start by carrying out some of its teachings. The reason for the Children of Israel leaving Egypt was the hard taskmasters put over them. They worked about 12 hours a day, the same as in Judge Gary's steel mills. Here is one lesson with which to begin the day.

It may be remembered that the League of Nations had nothing to do with releasing the captives of the Chinese bandits. The bandits simply got tired out hearing the wet and dry question discussed by the Americans.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE LITTLE HOUSE.
Within a little, simple house there dwelt a kindly man.
And round about its open door three happy children ran;
Each evening at its supper time the kitchen fairly rang
With the strains of oldtime melodies the busy mother sang.

The little house was very like its neighbors in the street.
And yet it seemed to wear a smile, like kindly folk you meet.
While others had a care-worn look of sorrow or despair—
The hardened signs of bitterness were plainly written there.

The women at the other doors seemed hurt and tired, and faint.
As though their days and weeks were filled with bickering and complaint:
The men were cold and stern in speech and quarrelsome and mean
And had forgot their tender ways when lovers they had been.

The kindly man came home at night, a smile upon his face.
And down the street to welcome him his little ones would race.
For never had they seen him come at night in rage or hate
And never had he cursed at them, though supper might be late.

Dissonance never passed the door. Those walls had never heard
In all the years which they had stood, one sharp or cruel word.
And so the mother's face stayed fair and so her heart could sing
And so that little house appeared to be a lovely thing.

You'll know it as you walk along—the glad and happy place
Wears just as bright a look of joy as does a smiling face.
For hate and bitterness and strife leave scars that nothing hides,
While mirth adorns the dwelling place where gentleness abides.

Who's Who Today

HENRY HASTINGS CURRAN.

Henry Hastings Curran is the new commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, main gateway to the U. S. Curran succeeds Robert E. Curran, and at this post, the most difficult position in the immigration service.

Curran is a New York lawyer and politician. He was at one time president of the Borough of Manhattan and in 1921 was Fusion candidate for mayor of New York city.

He is a native of New York City and was born Nov. 13, 1877. He is a graduate of Yale (A. B. degree) and New York law school (LL. B.). From 1898 to 1901 he was assistant editor and telegraph editor of the New York Times, then began the practice of law and acted as correspondent for newspapers.

His first political venture in New York was as an alderman in 1911. He served in that capacity six years.

He fought in the World war as a major with the Seventy-Seventh division, U. S. A.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Getting in and Getting Out of the Ku Klux Klan. Sometimes getting out of the Klan was not so simple as getting in. Merchants were afraid to drop out because of noisy politicians because they feared to lose votes, editors because they dared not risk offending readers and advertisers. Often men were threatened with bodily harm, either for refusing to join or for trying to withdraw. Such instances are the commonest gossip among Southerners who dare to take a stand. A man was financially or socially strong enough, or brave enough, he sometimes defied the Klan. Identified to his own satisfaction the writers of several threatening letters, and going to places of business, pleasantly proposed to "shoot it out." His proposal was not accepted, and he received no more threatening letters.

Another time in a western Texas county, was warned anonymously that it was better to stop talking against the Klan. He replied by issuing handbills offering five hundred dollars to any Klansman who would repeat the warnings walking up and down the main street of his home town, Winchester in hand and revolver in belt, the reward was not called for. And even in Mer Rouge there were men like J. S. Nimrod, who in answer to a question put "Fear the Klan—hell, no. There's nothing in Bastrop to make me fear. Skulkers! Yellow skulkers! Men that haven't nerve enough to come out and fight the open fight."

And it would be possible to find judges, lawyers, editors, clergymen, and humble citizens by the score who dared stand up against hidden enemies for what they believed to be a real as opposed to a spurious Americanism.—Robert L. Duffus in The World's Work for June.

OXYGEN RATIONS COMPARED

The vicious factor which makes a sedentary habit or mode of life unhealthy is a shortage of oxygen, a constant, prompt, and considerable supply is not one while more essential in the sedentary life than in fingerbolls, but people have it because they think it goes with that kind of life.

By recent installment I said that as nearly as can be determined the minimum amount of exercise a normal man or woman requires daily to remain normal is a walk of six miles. By common, ordinary, two hours daily, an amount of time which only prosperous people can afford. We Americans are the prosperous people of the world today. We can well afford two hours daily, to insure for ourselves for years to come uninterrupted prosperity.

Unfortunately there is no mathematical unit of measurement available at present whereby one may roughly estimate the oxygen getting value of a given kind of exercise, as one might estimate the calorie or caloric value of a meal of victuals. We know that saving wood is a strenuous occupation consuming something like 6,000 calories of energy a day. We know that a woman who does nothing at all, just resting, a woman expends about 100 calories nourry when sleeping, with a broom, not with a vacuum cleaner. For walking the amount of energy expended will vary greatly, according to the height and weight of the individual, the character of his gait, and the grade of the ground. One may progress like an Indian, with the least possible expenditure of energy or swing the arms to the tune of a number of calories per step. One may walk a mile with each step at a cost of many more calories.

I can give only a crude estimate of the comparative value of various forms of exercise in overcoming the oxygen shortage. My estimates are made subject to correction, if anybody finds any gross errors in them. Ten miles of oxygen three times a day, or six miles in one dose, on the hoof, is the minimum daily requirement for the sedentary adult who would keep in reasonably efficient condition. For walking this minimum is equivalent to a three mile walk. A 15 minute period of setting-up exercise is equivalent to a two mile walk. A 30 minute period of straight walking, changing a tire is equivalent to a quarter mile walk down hill. Infusing the tire is equivalent to walking a mile. A set of stairs is equivalent to a three mile walk. A game of lawn bowls is equivalent to sliding down the cellar door.

Housekeepers and storekeepers often imagine they get considerable exercise walking about the house or the store every day. When we attach a pedometer to measure this exercise they generally cover about a mile—not the 10 miles they estimate.

People who can afford their six miles of oxygen on the hoof will find in carrying a pedometer to tick off the miles and check up estimates of familiar distances.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
The Mail Left Bar.
I am still a young man, have good health, but am entirely deaf in my left ear.
Answer—Shake. We ought to be glad most of us are equipped with two ears, two eyes, and various other appendages in duplicate, which makes the loss of merely one a matter of no great consequence.

We Should Advertise.
Is it correct to write the name of a physician in the basement of my left arm?
Answer—No, that is almost as funny as the way a doctor identifies himself. Dr. Blinski (smiles) John Smith, M. D. is obviously not only Dr. Smith, but a doctor of medicine, not a masseur, not a chiropractor, not a drug clerk. It may be written correctly, "Dr. John Smith," or "John Smith, M. D." or "Dr. J. Smith."

Sewer Gas.
Our tenant claims she has malaria from sewer gas in the basement. Her ice box drains there. Everything is dry and clean. Can malaria be caused from sewer gas? No odor is detected about the drain? (Mrs. I. C. R.)
Answer—Neither malaria nor any other disease can be caused by sewer gas. Sewer gas is chiefly carbon dioxide (carbonic acid gas) which is not poisonous. The disagreeable odor, if any, arises from decomposing matter, but can produce no disease. Malaria is caused by a parasite which is injected into the victim's blood by the bite of the Anopheles breed of mosquito. It is not transmitted in any other manner. Such mosquitoes may breed in the water or filth in an obstructed drain, or in an old can or other receptacle which may be about the premises, or in an unsecured cistern or rain barrel, or in contrivances in the yard or in scores of other places where water may stand a week or more.

Disorientation.
Twelve miles in 10 minutes in Lincoln at night on a train headed west, as I assumed. However, the train was headed east. I was disoriented. Ever since, I have been unable to get my sense of direction in Lincoln, where I have lived for many years. I get straightened out? (J. R. H.)
Answer—Learn to observe sunrise and sunset, and the color of the sky (up of handle of little dipper) at night; you'll soon become properly oriented.

Let Us Help You In Your Housecleaning

At the best, housecleaning is a hard and tiresome job. The person that lightens this task is a real help.

High costs of materials, and the daily wear and tear of getting domestic help have complicated the job still more.

The government has studied this problem of home economics and embodied the results of its study in a booklet. This is a free publication which our Washington Information Bureau will secure for any of our readers.

The object of the booklet is to make housecleaning simpler and easier and at the same time get rid of the dirt and grime which is the cause of so much of the trouble in the furnishing and care of the house. The methods suggested are based both on the well-tested experience of practical housekeepers and on the results of scientific studies.

To obtain this booklet simply fill out and mail the coupon below. Enclose two cents in stamps to pay postage on the booklet, and please to write your name and address clearly.

PAYS FOR BEING DUPE OF GAMBLER

Wayland Bliven, Edgerton, paid $125 and costs to the clerk of the municipal court here Monday—the penalty of being too good a fellow.

It appears from the story told Judge H. L. Maxwell by Bliven that he was the innocent victim of a raid conducted on a gambling room in Edgerton last week. Bliven explained the place was operated by Mr. Barrett, who was in the habit of walking out for a few minutes at a time and asking Bliven to look after things while he was gone.

On the day of the raid, Barrett had gone out after making his usual request to Bliven. While he was out the officers arrived and Bliven didn't come back. As a result Bliven was arrested as the man in charge of the poker lounge.

Judge Maxwell at first made Bliven's sentence $250 and costs or six months in jail, but when he learned that he was overpaid with company "34" he reduced it to $125 or four months.

"It's the price you pay for being a fool—you should have known better than to be the dupe of this man Barrett," is Judge Maxwell's comment.

The room where the games were conducted has been closed and is no longer in operation as a gambling joint, Judge Maxwell was informed.

READ YOUR METER

It's easy to learn how to read a gas meter. If you will stop in at our office we shall be glad to show you how to do it. Then you can check up on the meter reader's statement to satisfy yourself of its accuracy. Also, frequent reading of the meter enables you to regulate your expenditures for gas. If you seem to be using too much gas, it is always well to investigate at once—not wait until the bill comes in.

EASY ON THE METER!

Not only is it easy to own a Sands Automatic Storage Gas Water Heater, but you will find it very economical in gas consumption. The gas burners go on only when water is being heated and are automatically shut off as soon as the tank becomes full of hot water—hence the economy.

Don't think a coal water heater is not expensive just because it uses only a scuttle of coal a day. There are 70 scuttles in a ton. Therefore, about a half ton of coal a month for heating water. Too expensive—and just think of the dirt and trouble.

See the Sands demonstrated at our office.

Southern State League Has Played Before 9,350 People

JANESVILLE LEADS WITH 2,650 TOTAL FOR THREE BATTLES

A total of 9,350 people have attended the games of the southern Wisconsin league since its opening on June 10. The figures compiled by Frank Sinclair, Janesville, president of the organization, show that the league has been under way for six weeks. Seventeen games have been played to date.

Janesville with three home games so far is leading in attendance. The Boosters have had 2,650 people in their park here.

Next in order comes Stoughton with 1,850 for four games. Edgerton and Port Atkins, each have had 1,200. Cambridge also has had 1,300, but the Perry boys have had three games in their local lot. Deerfield has played before 950 in three games at home.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

FIGURES given out Tuesday are demonstration enough as to whether the southern Wisconsin home talent league is taking a hold. A total of 9,350 fans at the contests of the first six weeks is not a bad attendance average by any means. From all over the circuit come enthusiastic reports of the manner in which the clubs are being taken into the fold by the citizens of the cities. The excitement is being given the crowds. One no-run, no-hit game has been turned in. Some startling plays have been executed. All-in-all, the teams are doing their bit to make home talent baseball popular.

THE FANS of southern Wisconsin, in and outside of league towns, got plenty to think about last Sunday. Three extra inning affairs were chalked up. That sounds like good baseball. Take that 6 to 3 game at Port Atkins. It was a real battle. Twenty runs coming out on top. Then think of that 12 frame battle at Palmyra with the Pals trimming Genesee, 12 to 1. If clubs were not enough, take a look at the 11 stanza affair which Harvard won from Shuron. There have been more than three hundred games in the southern tier so far this season and the year is only seven weeks old.

THEY are having a great time over that Dempsey-Gibbons bout to be staged at Shelby, Mont., on independence day. First, a lot of bunk about the condition of Jack is shot out to feed the public. Then along comes the dope that it is a hard matter to finance the match. Most of it, apparently, is just mere imagination. The interest of the sport press must be kept up and in the minds of fight promoters every thing is legitimate if it can make a big house. Now, shell out your coin.

Charlie Bick Will Twirl for Janesville Boosters

There are rumors going the rounds in Janesville that the Tank Corps baseball team will cease to operate after next Sunday. That case, the after next Sunday, the Tank Corps will be the mainstay of the Janesville Boosters.

Charlie Bick, southpaw hurler of the national guardsmen, has already closed a deal with the Janesville Boosters. The way in which Janesville came to the fore and won on Sunday has pleased the fans. From now on, every other team in the loop will be more careful when it meets up with the Boosters. That will mean to the benefit of Janesville.

NOTES OF THE LEAGUE—Hefnerman, Janesville, first baseman, still leads the league in batting, having an average of .692.

C. Hatzinger, Stoughton, first baseman, looks the class of the circuit. Sunday he made his second unassisted double play of the season, catching a fly and touching the bag to force a runner.

Hansen, Cambridge second baseman, gave Cambridge three runs in the third by poling a homer with two on.

Right Fielder Kramer of Port Atkins pulled down a fly in the ninth inning from C. Hatzinger's bat when he was three on and two down and saved Port from defeat.

Langhorne of Janesville had the strike out record for Sunday with 10. He allowed but two bases on balls. The most hits made in any game Sunday were 10, those by Janesville.

C. Hatzinger, Stoughton first baseman, had 13 chances and an error. Michael, Port shortstop, had the best record in the league for his position, 10 chances and no errors.

Volight of Edgerton showed best in the field, six chances and no boots.

SENSATIONAL ACTS BOOKED FOR FAIR—Six different free attractions offered for Aug. 7-10 in Janesville.

Six feature open air performances will be presented on the platform opposite the grandstand, at the fair grounds, during the days of the fair. The attractions are: "The Road Boy," "The Road Boy," "The Road Boy," "The Road Boy," "The Road Boy," "The Road Boy."

Wilde Passes Fly Title to Villa via KO Route

New York—Jimmy Wilde yielded his title of world champion fly-weight boxer to Pancho Villa Monday night in a manner that the 40,000 who watched will remember while they live.

The 40,000 who sat in the Polo grounds and saw the little, wiry, convulsed by the exhibition of gameness the little Welshman gave, that for fully five minutes after it was over they sat there, mostly quiet, waiting for him to open his eyes and come back to consciousness that he might hear the roar that was their sincere tribute to a genuine fighting champion.

Villa, an unheard of Filipino more than a year ago, won because he obviously was the better man. Whether now at his very best he is a better man than the mighty atom he dethroned when Wilde was in his prime, is another matter.

Old timers who saw the battle said it reminded them of the passing of Battling Nelson, who was so tame that he had to be shouted out on his feet. Wilde was like that Monday night. Beaten to the point where the crowd asked that the punishment be stopped, helpless to either defend himself or attack, he yielded not an inch.

Wilde kept pressing forward, on, throughout the fight. In the first round his chances to hold his crown seemed good, but when the bell rang in the second, he took a wallop on the chin that flattened him and he never got over the daze. Wilde was beaten when the third round began and he was the loser the rest of the way, but he didn't seem to know it until he was up.

Jimmy received about $60,000—37 1/2 per cent of the total receipts, and Villa about $20,000—12 1/2 per cent. The total receipts were about $160,000.

Fairies Stumble Over Ball, Lose to Massillon, 3-1
Beloit—Massillon, considered here for the season started as one of the easiest possibilities in the midwest league, defeated the Beloit Fairies Monday night Monday afternoon, 3 to 1.

The contest developed into a sloppy pitching exhibition early. Davenport outpitched Perry of the Buckeye slaters, allowing but six hits and striking out 13. But the contest was kicked out from behind him. Two errors, one each by Allie son and Jennings, presented the game to the visitors. Massillon plays here again Tuesday. The game will start at 5 p. m.

Izaak Walton's Meet Tuesday; Talk by Expert
Inside dope on fishing will be given at the exhibition of Janesville Tuesday at a meeting of the local Izaak Walton chapter at city hall, North Jackson street, 8 p. m. The Rev. O. W. (Outdoor) Smith of Evansville will speak.

The Rev. Mr. Smith is a member of the Janesville club and went as its delegate to the national Izaak Walton convention in Chicago recently. He was given a post on the national board of directors. He will speak about the convention and give other pointers gained from his wide experience as a fisherman and as a student of fish.

The situation will probably be taken up by the local club and some steps taken to procure action from the state conservation commission.

Where the Sun Sinks Into the Sea
FOR six hundred miles and more, the Oregon-Washington coastline looks like the Pacific Ocean. It is, mostly, a high and rocky coast of towering cliffs and bold headlands, against which the breakers dash unceasingly.

Along this coast are stretches of sandy beach, some of them only a mile long, while others are ten times that length. Back of them are mountains and wooded hills, over and through which trails wind in all directions.

Of these sandy beaches, the most accessible, the most highly developed and the pleasantest, are Seaside and Cannon Beach, Oregon; and Medford, Heceta and North Beach, Washington. These are the "Atlantic Cities of the Pacific."
